REPORT OF THE SCHOOL BOARD,

MARLOW TOWN DISTRICT.

It is a notable fact that at no time in recent years has greater interest in education been taken, in our state, than at the present. It is equally true that Cheshire county is leading by precept and example, and being an integral part of the county we can rightfully take to ourselves a portion of this credit. We know our schools are having a reputation for excellence; while this is so, to a good degree, they are so far short of what they should be we have no desire to unduly commend them. It will be seen from our financial report, that our expenditures do not differ materially from last year excepting the item, "new books;" in these a change of readers had become a necessity and it was made. Schools have been maintained thirty weeks in each division having one, a total of one hundred and fifty weeks. The number of scholars enumerated April first, between the ages of six and sixteen, boys, 55, girls, 44; total, 99; the number of different pupils attending school was 122.

As a whole our schools have been successful, no failures are to be noted; in one or two instances the conditions were not such as we desired and changes were made that proved beneficial. Two teachers resigned at the eleventh hour, causing us some expense and annoyance. Almost without exception our teachers were those of considerable experience who have wrought with commendable zeal and with generally good results. That there are those who fail in making a success of school work is true, it was always so, it is also true that poor ones sooner disappear from the field. Nowhere is the "survival of the fittest" more manifest than among teachers. We do not believe the assertions of those who say the schools of thirty and forty years ago were better than those of the present. Those who make them forget that now we scarcely find a pupil past sixteen years of age, while in the former days it was a frequent occurrence to have scholars of twenty years and upwards; even with this disparity in age we are confident that the average scholar of today will show a decided advance in attainment over the average scholar of forty years ago. The progressive ideas of the present require the adoption of broader lines of work, demand the introduction of newer branches, that the children of the rural communities may keep in touch with those of the larger towns. A country-bred boy or girl, because of this fact, should take no second place.

The condition of your schools must answer very largely for the positions they may occupy when brought in contact with those of possibly better opportunities. While it is certain that our schools are more progressive, of increased length and better taught, there are deplorable defects still existing; one is seemingly on the increase, as the years go by; it is the lamentable lack of interest in schools on the part of parents; in nothing else do you take so little apparent care as in the intellectual welfare of your children; in this we are behind the past. Men and women, former teachers, who are among us, esteemed and credible witnesses, assert that their experience and observation confirm this. Somehow there are those who seem to entertain the idea that the school system is sustained for the especial benefit of school boards; that any effort the latter may make looking to better attendance, more thorough work, increased usefulness, is done simply to gratify personal whims, rather than to lift your child to a higher plane, where he can stand benefited himself, and benefiting others; scholars, influenced by sympathy in the wrong, or non-interest in the right also get this idea; both parent and pupil totally fail to realize that the object for which schools are supported is to produce intelligent men and women. An outgrowth of this lack of interest is your criminal neglect in allowing so much of tardiness, so much absence from school; this last is a crying evil.

You permit your children to remain away, then complain of favoritism on the part of teachers, that your pupil is held back, while others, constant in attendance are allowed to advance, or complain because after a day's, a week's absence, your child is neglected by the teacher when she will not hold back a class to give your child the benefit of some explanation had in its absence. With a record of 2,200 days' absence, one-eighth part of the possible attendance, have we not the right to ask, how you can express regrets for your own limited school privileges, your failure to improve such as you had, yet upon the slightest pretext allow your children to remain away from school. Some one has said "every boy or girl out of school, except from illness, should be compelled to labor hard the number of hours they should be in school, even if the work was nothing else than picking over a stone heap;" this might cure the child and stop that curse of childhood, street-loafing, but other punishment must be devised to reach the parent who permits it. Parents, you by your negligence, are striking down the very foundations of American liberty, intelligence, industry, obedience. You fail to appreciate the fact that each day's attendance at school, improved as it should be, is a deposit in the bank of knowledge that will accumulate interest through life and upon which drafts may be made at will, the oftener made, the more frequently honored, the greater the balance remaining.

The state demands as its right that your children be educated, it provides the way, it expects you will accept it, it ought not to be forced to compel; even at the last legislature more stringent laws were enacted; one, obliging the school board to elect a truant officer. His duties were enlarged, as will be seen from Section 18 of Chapter 92; you should know it. "Truant officers shall have authority without a warrant to take and place in school any children found employed contrary to the laws relating to the employment of children or violating the laws relating to the compulsory attendance at school of children between the ages of six and sixteen." No law can recover a day's absence from school, it is lost, and your child is the loser.

Among other laws recently enacted is one you will be asked to consider at the annual meeting, looking to a better system of supervision. We favor it as a step toward greater efficiency in school work.

In the matter of repairs for the year, the houses in Nos. 3, 4, 5, 7 need painting; that in No. 5 requires shingling on one side at least. The houses in Nos. 1 and 6 must have some attention, or later on, if ever needed for school uses, must be repaired extensively. The house in No. 8 was burned last year. By the decrease in our apportionment for public taxes, our school tax will be lessened nearly twenty-five per cent.; if you desire to maintain your schools up to the present standard this decrease must be met by an appropriation; we most earnestly recommend this.

STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE.

CHESHIRE, SS.

Personally appeared James M. Perkins and made oath to the above statement. Before me,

WALDO H. PERKINS,
Justice of the Peace.

Marlow, Feb. 20, 1900.

TRUSTEES OF TOWN LIBRARY.

Your committee have examined the library and found it in usual good condition. The examination was not so thorough as sometimes, owing to the fact that it is deemed desirable, at an early date, to call in all the books, that those badly soiled and worn may be replaced by new ones. Due notice will be given of the call. The number of patrons is, 158; whole number of books circulated, 1,833; largest number taken by one family, 109; largest number taken by one person, 58.

L. B. HUNTLEY,
E. A. JONES,
For the Trustees.
